From Principal's Desk

It is indeed an honor and gratitude for me to pen down my feelings on the occasion of publishing third edition of College Newsletter. I am proud that our staff and students had risen to challenges facing in this newly established College. The endeavor of this institution is to provide the best quality education for personality development of every student and to provide the latest techniques of education to students. The main focus of the institution is to empower the students with sound knowledge, wisdom, career development and life values. The efforts are directed to address the expectations of each student by enabling them to participate in debates, quiz programmes, paper presentations, mushairas, awareness programmes and other co-curricular activities.

I express my sense of appreciation for my faculty, staff and students whose combined efforts made it successful.

Wishing you all the best for future endeavors.

From Editor's Desk

As an editor of this newsletter, I have come across numerous incidents which have left me inarticulate, albeit in a good way. I am constantly amazed by seeing the enthusiasm and zeal of the principal, faculty members, staff and students, who are always on their toes for the betterment of this newly established college.

It is highly encouraging for staff and students of Govt. Degree College Dangi Wacha, stepping into more upright and rewarding publication of Newsletter, 2023.

I am thankful of the governing body especially principal Prof. Imtiyaz Ahmad Parray for giving, me this opportunity first and then helping me out for bringing out this valuable newsletter within time frame. I am also thankful to the advisory board for their constant support and encouragement. Without them this publication would not have been in your hands today.

The publication of the College Newsletter is a testament to the hard work, talent, creativity, and academic prowess that our esteemed institution fosters. It provides a platform to showcase not only academic achievements but also the vibrant cultural and extracurricular life that thrives within our college walls. Through its pages, we witness the remarkable journey of our students as they navigate the academic, cultural, and extracurricular realms of college.

As an Editor, I have tried my level; best to make this publication much beneficial. Excluding becomes more important than including, therefore I have taken utmost concern to minimize the possible errors, however to err is human. Therefore, I/We would be happy to incorporate and entertain any suggestion, comment, critical observation and make this publication more engaging in future.

Best wishes.
